

Gracious God, we trust you.

Lead us in truth.

Let us follow paths that respect and value all people,

that none may be abused, used, bought or sold.

Pardon our complicity in the demand that promotes modern-day slavery.

Forgive us the ways in which we and our society exploit others, through trafficking, prostitution, pornography, forced labour and oppression.

Give us strength and courage to act, so as to bring an end to the demand that fosters all exploitation, but especially that of women and children.

May we be guided forever, O God, in the way of compassion, justice and love.

Amen.

The campaign logo, a black broken circle intersected with a red S, represents a wholeness and integrity that have been broken. Both the lives of those trafficked and their families and communities have been shattered because of this modern-day slavery. The white space that is created symbolizes the vulnerable individual trapped by the intertwining red S of immense profits, which motivate traffickers, pimps, brothel owners and others. Those who buy, the demanders, provide the money that drives this crime.
